Indian textile exporters will get same tariff benefits in the US as Bangladesh: Piyush Goyal

MIXED REACTION. While garment exporters cheer, some farmers express concern about cotton sourcing requirements from the US

Amiti Sen

Indian textile exporters will get the same benefits as their Bangladeshi competitors in the US market and be allowed to export at zero reciprocal tariffs subject to raw-material sourcing requirements, Commerce & Industry Minister Piyush Goyal has said.

While the move has cheered garment manufacturers, who feared losing ground after Bangladesh secured its quota-based duty-free deal with the US, it has sparked concern among Indian farmers over the potential influx of American cotton.

"Just as Bangladesh has a facility that if raw material is purchased from America, process it and make cloth and export it, then it will be available at zero reciprocal tariff, India also has the same facility and India will also get it. At the moment, India and the US have a framework agreement. When it will be finalised into interim agreement, you can see this in the fine print," Goyal told reporters on Thursday.

Per the Bangladesh-US joint statement issued earlier this week, Washington committed to establish a mechanism that will allow for certain textile and apparel goods from Bangladesh to receive a zero reciprocal tariff rate. "This mechanism will provide that a to-be-specified volume of apparel and textile imports from Bangladesh can enter the US at this reduced tariff rate, but this volume shall be determined in relation to the quantity of exports of textiles, for example, US-produced cotton and man-made fibre textile inputs, from the US," the joint statement noted.

Goyal pointed out that the requirement of sourcing raw materials was there in the US-Bangladesh pact and would be part of India's agreement as well. He added that it will not adversely impact Indian cotton farmers, as the US had limited cotton production.

According to trade expert Abhijit Das, a big difference between India and Bangladesh is that the latter hardly grows any cotton. India's monsoon-sown cotton production is 29.22 million bales in 2025-26, marginally lower than 29.72 million in the previous year. The government had allowed import of cotton at zero duty until December 31 to augment domestic supplies, leading to a significant uptick in arrivals.

FARMERS' CONCERNS

Some Indian farmers are apprehensive about what the deal will finally entail. "We want more transparency in the negotiations. While the textile industry knows what is happening, we are kept in the dark. A large number of Indian cotton farmers will be impacted adversely if import of US cotton is eased," said Kannaiyan Subramaniam, President, Thalavady Farmers Association.

The US is trying to

"snatch" India's cotton market from India, said Rampal Jat, National President, Kisan Mahapanchayat.

"It is essential to determine accountability for the failure to adopt an appropriate policy in this trade agreement in a timely manner," Jat said.

While the US has fixed reciprocal tariffs of 18 per cent on Indian goods (to be soon brought down from 25 per cent), the reciprocal tariffs on Bangladeshi goods are at 19 per cent, down from 20 per cent under the revised deal. The MFN tariffs (regular tariffs applicable on all countries) on garments in the US is around 16 per cent, which will likely be applicable on exports from both Bangladesh and India, irrespective of the level of reciprocal tariffs.

'Revised US factsheet reflects joint understanding on Ind-US trade framework'

Randhir Jaiswal,
MEA Spokesperson

The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) stated that amendments to a US factsheet regarding the India-US interim trade framework now reflect the shared understanding of the agreement. MEA Spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal emphasised that the original joint statement, issued on February 7, remains the definitive basis for mutual understanding. The clarification follows a period of diplomatic recalibration after Washington issued a factsheet on February 9 that appeared to go beyond the agreed terms—tightening language on digital trade, agricultural imports and India's $500-billion import obligation.

The White House subsequently revised that document, dropping references to Indian imports of pulses, softening language on digital trade commitments and replacing the definitive "will" with "intended" regarding the $500-billion import target.

"The India-US joint statement on the framework for an interim agreement on reciprocal and mutually-beneficial trade was issued on February 7. The joint statement is the framework and remains the basis of our mutual understanding in the matter. Both sides will now work towards implementing this framework and finalising the interim agreement," Jaiswal said.

Centre cuts toll rates on partially-open expressways

PAY PER USE. Earlier, commuters were required to pay the higher expressway rate even when only certain sections were open

To ease traffic congestion, the Centre has amended toll rules to reduce user fees on national expressways that are not yet operational along their entire length.

Accordingly, the Ministry of Road Transport & Highways has amended the National Highways Fee (Determination of Rates and Collection) Rules, 2008.

The amended rules, National Highways Fee (Determination of Rates and Collection) (Amendment) Rules, 2026, will come into force on February 15, 2026.

Notably, the lower toll regime will remain in effect for one year from the date of implementation or until the expressway concerned becomes fully operational, whichever is earlier.

were required to pay the higher expressway rate even when only certain sections were open, on the grounds that access-controlled corridors offer faster and more seamless travel.

The ministry said the revised provision is intended to promote the use of operational stretches of expressways, helping decongest parallel National Highways, speed up the movement of passengers and freight, and reduce pollution caused by traffic bottlenecks.

FEE UP 25%
Consequently, toll on partially-operational expressways will now be charged at rates applicable to national highway sections, instead of the earlier provision that allowed a 25 per cent higher fee for completed stretches of expressways.

Petronet Q3 net up 5% on higher capacity use

Press Trust of India
New Delhi

Petronet LNG on Thursday reported a 5 per cent rise in the December quarter net profit, as usage at its Kochi terminal rose to an all-time high.

Its net profit stood at ₹848 crore in the December quarter compared with ₹806 crore in the year-ago period, a company statement said.

The company, which operates two facilities at Dahej in Gujarat and Kochi in Kerala for import of natural gas in its liquid form (LNG), saw overall volume throughput rise 2 per cent. Capacity utilisation of the (17.5 million tonnes a year) Dahej terminal stood at 94 per cent in the current quarter (93 per cent).

"The robust financial performance of the current quarter was achieved due to efficiency in operations and higher capacity utilisation," the company said.
