H-1B returnees face cautious tech job market in India amid AI-led shift

EMPLOYMENT CHALLENGE. The current hiring environment may not be suitable for large-scale absorption: Experts

Sindhu Hariharan
Chennai

DEMAND DIP. Data show that the Indian tech sector's active talent demand is currently on a downward slope

Every time the US and its immigration authorities tighten visa procedures and apprehension sets in among the scores of techies on H-1B and other employment visas, there are calls for them to return to India and find opportunities in the growing economy.

However, tech executives and HR specialists caution that H-1B returnees face a cautious Indian tech job market amid an AI-led shift.

IT SERVICES ROLES

Even as the number of Indian tech professionals returning from the US is rising, India's current hiring environment may not be ideal for largescale absorption of H-1B talent, especially in traditional IT services and products roles, they said.

Kamal Karanth, Co-founder, Xpheno, a specialist staffing firm, said that considering the current dynamics and trends of active demand in the Indian job market, it is definitely not the best of times for US-settled H-1B talent to return.

HIRING BUOYANCY

"After the hiring buoyancy of 2021, the Indian tech sector has not had a period of stability extending beyond a quarter. The sector continues to be periodically hit by global events and occurrences in key client markets, and this is reflected in the trajectory of hiring action in the sector," he said.

Xpheno's data show that Indian tech sector's active talent demand is currently on downward slope, with May's talent action being lower compared to the previous month.

Raja Lahiri, Partner and Technology Industry Leader, Grant Thornton Bharat, said there is indeed a challenge in demand in traditional tech services talent, given the macroeconomic headwinds as well as GenAI tools and tech introduced this year.

RIGHT JOB

"However, there is a massive opportunity for AI skills, and the demand is only going to increase, so there will be lots of job opportunities. Therefore, depending on the skills they possess, NRIs may find appropriate job opportunities in India if they wish to return," he said.

GROWTH OPPORTUNITY

Pankaj Bansal, Co-founder, PeopleStrong, said that returnees now have front-row seats to India's growth opportunity and must capitalise on that. He said GCCs will be the real game changers for the returnees and hold a lot of the jobs that suit their AI skill sets. "We are also the third largest start-up ecosystem today and they can also either start ventures or join them," he adds.

However, he does acknowledge the very small pool of risk capital in India.

Xpheno's data also showed that the scale of tech talent moving between India and the US has been changing over the last three years.

While two-way movement (both India to the US, and from the US to India) continues, there has been a rise in count of returnees over the years. As per Xpheno's research, 7,200 tech talent returned from the US to India, 9,800 in 2024, 15,100 in 2025, and in 2026 (YTD) this is already at 7,300. Further, the delta between the scale of tech talent moving out of India and moving back to India has also been significantly narrowing, data show.

The friction thus seems to also be due to the steep package gaps.

Bergner plans expansion in premium kitchenware

Amit Vijay Mohile
Mumbai

Bergner India is betting big on the premiumisation of India's ₹16,000 crore cookware market as consumers increasingly shift from unbranded kitchen products to organised, health-focused brands.

The company, which has roped in celebrity chef Vikas Khanna as brand ambassador, is in advanced talks with private equity investors to raise growth capital for its next expansion phase, including plans to build up to 500 Bergner Galleries across India.

The company, the Indian arm of the Spain-headquartered Bergner Group, is expanding aggressively in tri-ply stainless steel cookware, pressure cookers, ceramic-coated cookware and cast-iron products, while pushing deeper into tier-2 and tier-3 markets.

By the end of FY26, Bergner had established 40 Bergner Galleries across general trade stores in India, alongside a shop-in-shop presence in Reliance Smart Bazaar.

REVENUE RISE

Bergner's revenue rose 27 per cent to ₹255 crore in FY25 from ₹200 crore in FY24. The company is estimated to have crossed ₹340-350 crore in FY26, extending its multi-year growth trajectory. Managing Director Umesh Gupta told businessline that Bergner had recorded a 33 per cent compound annual growth rate over the past three years, significantly ahead of the broader cookware industry. Unlike consumer brands that rely on discount-led growth, Gupta said Bergner's expansion was driven by higher-value categories such as tri-ply cookware, toxin-free ceramic coatings and enamelled cast-iron products.

The company is now targeting revenue of more than ₹400 crore by FY27 through expansion into small domestic appliances, storage solutions, bakeware, vacuum flasks and premium dinnerware, alongside India-focused launches such as the Vikas Khanna-endorsed Argent Samsara range and the Excalibur enamel cast-iron collection.

Industry executives said India's cookware market is undergoing a structural transition as urban consumers increasingly move away from traditional aluminium cookware towards tri-ply stainless steel and ceramic-coated alternatives.

Gupta said growing consumer awareness around safer and more durable cookware materials have accelerated this shift, particularly among urban households.

Rainbow Children's Medicare aims to double revenue by FY30

bl.interview

G Naga Sridhar
Hyderabad

Hyderabad-based Rainbow Children's Medicare, led by Founder-Chairman Ramesh Kancharla, has grown steadily in recent years, supported by a distinctive doctor engagement model in which physicians work full-time on retainer within dedicated teams providing round-the-clock care, especially critical in paediatric medicare.

In FY26, the company reported a 12.4 per cent rise in revenue to ₹1,703 crore and a 15.3 per cent increase in net profit to ₹281 crore.

With its current capacity expansion cycle largely complete, the focus has now shifted to execution — driving clinical excellence, improving occupancies, strengthening service standards and building sustainable growth across its hospital network. Kancharla speaks about the business and industry trends.

Edited excerpts:

Rainbow has been on an expansion mode, of late. How has the capacity addition been in FY26?

We had a couple of rough quarters earlier, but this year has addressed many concerns. We added nearly 500 beds in FY26, the highest in our history. Traditionally, we looked at adding around 300 beds annually, but acquisitions changed the scale. The acquisitions in Guwahati and Warangal have done very well. Rajahmundry has also exceeded expectations because Rainbow already had strong brand recognition in the Godavari districts. Now our total beds are 2,500.

What was the investment in these acquisitions?

The Guwahati acquisition involved a 76 per cent stake with a transaction value of about ₹230 crore. In Warangal, we invested around ₹35-36 crore for a 76 per cent stake. Both acquisitions have integrated well.

What will be the company's priorities in FY27?

In FY27, we will focus on strengthening operations rather than on aggressive expansion. We now have a CEO, Abrar Ali, driving execution and strategy. My focus is on strengthening the clinical model and standardising care across hospitals. Whether it is Chennai, Bengaluru or Delhi,

In FY27, we will focus more on strengthening operations rather than on aggressive expansion

RAMESH KANCHARLA
Founder-Chairman,
Rainbow Children's Medicare

In FY27, we will focus on strengthening operations rather than on aggressive expansion. We now have a CEO, Abrar Ali, driving execution and strategy. My focus is on strengthening the clinical model and standardising care across hospitals. Whether it is Chennai, Bengaluru or Delhi, patients should experience the same systems, SOPs and quality standards. We are aggressively pushing protocolisation and standardisation of care. The second focus area is customer experience. We have created a separate vertical for this and brought in professionals from the hospitality sector to improve patient engagement. We are exploring some acquisition opportunities; they might not be of too big tickets. If they materialise, they may add around 100-150 beds. Otherwise, FY27 will not see major bed additions. A larger expansion pipeline is expected from FY28 onwards.

How do you see Rainbow's growth trajectory over the medium term?

Over the next three years, by FY30, we should be doubling our revenue and EBITDA from current levels. We are already strongly profitable and clock around 25 per cent EBITDA margins.

What is the company's financial position?
We currently have close to ₹700 crore cash on the balance sheet. At the end of last year, we had disclosed around ₹592 crore cash. Annual cash generation is roughly ₹250-300 crore. We have not taken loans over the last decade and, being a listed company, we have sufficient flexibility to raise funds if required.

How do you view the broader private healthcare sector in India?

India's private healthcare sector has progressed in terms of accessibility, quality and skill. In many cities, healthcare standards are comparable to developed countries. India has also rapidly expanded capabilities in complex procedures. The country now performs around 7,000-8,000 liver transplants annually, which reflects the depth of healthcare expertise available. District-level healthcare has also improved significantly over the years. Cities such as Warangal, Karimnagar, Vijayawada and Rajahmundry now have hospitals capable of handling many critical cases locally before referring highly complex patients to metro centres.

DS Group in deal to bring Ben's Cookies to India

Meenakshi Verma Ambwani
New Delhi

DS Group, known for brands such as Catch spices and Pulse candy, has inked a partnership with British brand Ben's Cookies, known for its freshly-baked products.

Under this agreement, the company will set up 8-10 stores in the country in this fiscal year. Ben's Cookies has been expanding in international markets and is known for its signature 'chunky and gooey' cookies.

Sanskriti Gupta, who is leading Ben's Cookies operations in India, told businessline, "The brand has a strong global heritage with a differentiated proposition and a focus on bakery-first retail format. The brand is also witnessing rapid growth in various markets, which led us to enter into this partnership to launch it in India."

INITIAL FOCUS

She added the company will initially focus on setting up outlets of the brand in Delhi-NCR and Mumbai.

"We expect to open 8-10 stores in this fiscal and we are aiming to open the first few stores within the next two months in these two cities," Gupta said.

"Every store will feature live oven baking with fresh batches throughout the day. In fact, the focus on quality is critical as the dough is imported and hence we need to maintain a seamless cold-chain infrastructure," she said, adding that the company will strategically focus on online channels to target impulse consumption occasions.
